Planning the Sales Campaign

By Exact Combinations

With the County Hand Book on National Distribution

THE Woman's World County Hand Book on National Distribution is the successor to the Woman's World Hand Book on National Distribution which was published in 1915 with 1910 census figures and reprinted several times.

The First Hand Book

This first Hand Book gave to the American manufacturer business maps of every state with all political references removed—the number of retail and wholesale merchants in the eight leading lines in every town of over 1,000 population in the United States with a recapitulation of same—the population of every town of over 1,000 population showing its location and importance, and the buying radii for the different sized places. On the maps, the buying centers from 1,000 to 2,500 were printed in red, 2,500 to 25,000 in green, and over 25,000 were printed in black.

Small-Town Buying Centers

The primary reason for the publication of this first Hand Book was to correct a mistaken idea prevalent in some quarters that the rural population consisting of some 44,000,000 people did the major part of their buying in the largest cities of over 25,000 population. This accurate compilation proved conclusively in the minds of the manufacturer, most advertising agents, research organizations and college boards that an overwhelming proportion of this rural trade did the bulk of their purchasing regularly from the merchants of the small-town buying centers of from 500 to 25,000 population located in the county in which the rural element resided.

We now present this Woman's World County Hand Book on National Distribution for your consideration and use—in which are shown for the first time maps and exact data for every county in the United States which should be of great help in securing a national distribution of your product.

Maps in Five Colors

On the maps there are five divisions of different sized buying centers, namely: places from 500 to 1,000 population are always printed in brown, places from 1,000 to 2,500 population are always printed in red, places from 2,500 to 10,000 population always printed in green, places from 10,000 to 25,000 population always printed in blue and places over 25,000 population always printed in black.

Every incorporated town in the United States of over 500 population is charted on these outline maps—those being county seats are surrounded by a circle ◉ and the capitals are shown with a star ✡.

Supplementing these maps, new accurate data is given opposite each buying center town from 500 population up, which gives the number of retail merchants in each place in each one of the ten leading lines.

The population of each county is given as well as the population of each buying center and the circulation of Woman's World, the Magazine of the Middle West, is presented by towns, counties and states.

Special Population Groupings

In addition there is a special grouping of the Buying Centers from 500 population up in every state by sizes—500 to 1,000; 1,000 to 2,500; 2,500 to 10,000; 10,000 to 25,000; and over 25,000 population for the use of those manufacturers whose products, distribution or resources have not permitted them as yet to consider the county basis of routing their salesmen and apportioning their advertising investment.

In conclusion there is a recapitulation of the wholesale trade (jobbers) by states.

A Practical Service

Woman's World County Hand Book on National Distribution with its exact data has been published at great expense by Woman's World because of its desire to give a practical service to the manufacturers, advertising and sales counselors of the land in strengthening the influence of Trade Marked Merchandise, and in decreasing the costs of distribution through National Advertising.

With National Advertising decided upon, the first step is to seek a comprehensive picture of the entire retail sales territory through the County Hand Book on National Distribution by states, buying centers and merchants of the United States, based upon the primary population division, the county, the solidest foundation upon which to build a structure which will endure and cause the advertising to register its greatest power.

Salesmen's Territories

In the planning of salesmen's territories, the most approved system is first the division of the 48 states into district sales territories from the standpoint of resources, contiguity and sales opportunities. Next comes the routing of both salesmen and advertising in individual states, apportioning advertising investment to dealer representation.

Next, the subdivision of states into sales units of several counties to a territory and lastly the consideration of the smallest but most vital unit of all, the single county, which is the keystone unit of the whole sales campaign.

Editorial

The Spirit of the Magazine

IF ALL the people lived under the same conditions they would all be alike. But they don't.

In the Sixteen Middle Western States

28,533,108 people live in towns of less than 25,000
13,147,502 people live in cities of more than 25,000

The first group live in the big outdoors, and talk in the language of acres. The second gâther vision from office buildings, flats and fifty-foot fronts.

The first group live in the natural way—they read o'nights after the day's work—they go to church—know their neighbors—take an interest in town affairs—do their own housework—have large families—the hustle—bustle—nerve racking strain is absent—home is the big idea—and mother all things to all the family.

The other group is in a hurry—trolleys—subways—movies—theatres—clubs—card parties—all-night dances—rattle—whistles—smoke and noise, is their daily portion. Mother is at the club—too restless to read—the children are in the street—the housemaid is on strike.

In the country—getting the best out of nature.

In the city—jarring the best out of human nature.

WOMAN'S WORLD idea is to edit and sell a country magazine for the country people—the kind they want—clean, uplifting, steady—like an old friend.

It is a simple plan, just the Four Fundamentals: Fiction, Domestic Science, Domestic Arts and Home Departments; but it has taken patience and a knowledge of the people to get the right material.

While many of our magazines have taken the interests of the large city and suburban woman as their Chief Concern—editing for the woman of varied interests and hobbies many of which take her outside of her home, and directing their circulation machinery to secure her subscriptions, it has remained for WOMAN'S WORLD, the Magazine of the Middle West, to direct its editorial appeal and subscription campaign to the farmer's wife—the small town and the small city woman, of whom there are at least 10,000,000 and whose servantless homes, greater responsibilities and larger families offer the more necessary field for real service.

Since 1901 WOMAN'S WORLD has been building a cheery magazine for the home. It has never catered to the news stand sale or installment subscription element in city life which feeds upon the lurid—the sensational and the sex appeal.

In 1923 after twenty-two years of publication, WOMAN'S WORLD has 1,000,000 monthly circulation of which 97% is paid in advance subscriber home circulation, all sold on a one, two, three and five-year basis, which tells the story of its receptivity into the best American Small Town families.

Fiction

Its stories have been by such writers as Edith Barnard Delano, Katharine Reynolds, Samuel Merwin, Alma and Paul Ellerbe, Fannie Kilbourne, Edwin Balmer, Maurice Maeterlinck, Madeleine Sharps Buchanan, Emerson Hough, Chart Pitt, Alma Boice Holland, Oscar Graeve, Alice Garland Steele, Frederic Orin Bartlett, Hugh Pendexter, Jewell Bothwell Tull, William Dudley Pelley, Jay Gelzer, Corinne Harris Markey—names that stand at the top in American fiction.

Its Children's Stories by Johnny Gruelle, Jean Thompson and Miriam Clark Potter are of great imaginative quality. These names are outstanding leaders in the children's field.

Articles

Its articles of timely interest and constructive nature have been by Harry Lauder, Angelo Patri, Madame Schuman Heink, Irene Castle, Elsie Janis, Mae Maguire Telford, Alma Binzel and Frank Crane; and always are on subjects of vital importance to the small-town woman.

Illustrations

The drawings to illustrate the stories and articles have been executed by such eminent artists as Thos. Fogarty, Frederic Dorr Steele, Victor Anderson, Maginel Wright Barney, J. Henry Bracker, Hanson Booth, Charles Livingston Bull, Willy Pogany, Wm. Hottinger and J. G. Chenoweth.

Domestic Science

The Domestic Science Department is of particular importance in a country woman's magazine where every subscriber knows how to cook—and it gives new and economical suggestions to practical housekeepers in every phase of cookery and kindred subjects. It has departments and articles conducted regularly by Ida Bailey Allen, Lillian Dynevor Rice, Agnes Hayward, Winifred Harper Cooley, Avis Gordon, Elizabeth Williams—names of national prestige.

Domestic Arts

The Domestic Arts Department of Needlework and Arts and Crafts is the branch of woman's activities in the home wherein individuality of treatment is of prime necessity. On its colored needlework pages WOMAN'S WORLD has achieved national leadership presenting over fifty four-color pages in 1922 alone, more than all other woman's magazines combined, showing only the new exclusive ideas by our own staff of artists.

Our staff of needlework designers include the foremost specialists in America among them being Sadie P. LeSueur, Effie Sory, Mrs. Will T. Perry, John Then and Ruby Short McKim.

The drawings for all color pages are executed by our own staff of artists, all graduates of the Chicago Art Institute.

Home Departments

The Home Departments running regularly in the magazine consist of: Fashions, Beauty and Health, Millinery, Interior Decoration, Home Building, Gardening and Poultry, Friendship Village, What Mother Thinks, and our subscriber's own page (the Postman's Whistle Page) facing the third cover.

These Home Departments and our editorial page are the soul of the magazine maintaining at all times the intimate relationship between the magazine and our subscribers who live in over 38,000 towns and cities in the country.

THE WOMAN'S WORLD POLICY

Circulation

Building the Subscription List

WHILE food, clothes and shelter constitute the major part of the nationally advertised merchandise—there are hundreds of articles of luxury, beauty and health, and scores of labor, time and money saving devices of great benefit and satisfaction to humanity which have achieved a national distribution through National Advertising.

In addition to the success of these bodily comforts it is also pertinent to mention the success of another type of manufactured products—those that enrich the mind, develop the character, whet the courage and provide the soul stuff that enables men and women to cope with the problems and complications of the present day life—the Good Books and the Clean Magazines.

A representative national woman's magazine like WOMAN'S WORLD with its one million subscribers—located in over 38,000 small towns and cities did not just happen to secure its subscribers and its concentrated circulation.

Every magazine is in reality a piece of merchandise which has to be advertised and merchandised to its clientele—by personal solicitation—through National Advertising—and by direct circularization just the same as any commodity in the mercantile field by fundamentally the same methods, selecting the sales ammunition which fits the territory, the times and the buyer's mood.

Inasmuch as the idea behind the publication of WOMAN'S WORLD has been a home magazine for women living on the farms and in the small towns and cities, it has been necessary to locate and cultivate this territory—just as a national advertiser has to find his market—by the process of analysis.

Our survey of the country has shown that the small town and small city prosperity reaches its highest development in the Sixteen Middle Western States due to the great progress of our farming population in the last generation.

Circulation Methods

The following statement will show the approximate percentage of WOMAN'S WORLD'S 1,000,000 circulation obtained by each method—statement as of June 1st, 1923:

1. Our own Traveling Sales Organization—
   Selling nothing but WOMAN'S WORLD and for cash two, three and five-year subscriptions..... 47½%
2. Direct—
   Our own direct efforts. Subscriptions which come in voluntarily and in response to our own efforts on expirations..... 25 %
3. Cash Agents and Club Raisers—
   Our resident representatives, of which we have some 15,000 active workers..... 7½%
4. From other Publishers—
   Magazines and Newspapers..... 10 %
5. Subscription Agents—
   Business which comes in entirely by mail. WOMAN'S WORLD has no arrangement with the installment subscription agencies or magazines which sell installment subscriptions..... 7½%
6. News Stand..... 2½%

100 %

These methods represent the experience of a generation in selling WOMAN'S WORLD to the small-town woman.

They are not perfect of course, but they have enabled us to control our own production—have allowed us to effect the greatest magazine concentration—in the most prosperous territory ever known—and have brought back to us a generous circulation surplus every year for the last five years.

And during this period the subscriber's responsiveness to mail order and keyed advertising in WOMAN'S WORLD has improved over 100%.

Circulation Surplus

We herewith present the circulation surplus of WOMAN'S WORLD each year from 1918 to 1922—a showing that few National Magazines of large circulation can meet.

1918	$ 72,981.09
1919	105,148.97
1920	29,646.68
1921	40,419.34
1922	59,094.09
TOTAL	$307,290.17
Average yearly surplus	61,458.03

The Value of the Method

In regard to the value of circulation methods in magazine production—we believe that it is a futile and a profitless thing to endeavor to appraise value or responsiveness by the standard of circulation methods.

The following two factors should be considered:

First—How much Home circulation has the magazine attracted to itself in proportion to its total volume. For Home circulation means permanency and the full value to the whole family—and it usually indicates that the magazine is bought on a one, two or a three-year basis.

Second—What is its circulation surplus? This is an accurate gauge of the consumer receptivity or resistance to the circulation efforts of the magazine.

Many Magazines of Many Minds

Some magazines strive for quantity circulation—regardless of cost—distribution of circulation—or the permanency of the subscriber's interest—others endeavor to make a virtue of a small circulation for the class and quality appeal.

Each magazine develops its circulation methods to fit its programme, some magazines appeal to men, some to women, some to children, some to the family, some for the news stand and others for the home, some for the city, others for the small towns.

The selling policy of the publication may be the quick, rapid thrust of the short time or the installment subscription or the institutional selling for long time subscriptions.

In other words what is meat for one is poison for another—but the answer may be found if the space buyer has an open mind and a knowledge of the conditions under which the circulation department of the magazine has to work.

THE WOMAN'S WORLD POLICY

Advertising

The Clientele, the Distribution and the Surplus

IN THE consideration of the class of magazines to be used in National Advertising for its effect upon the consumer—which is the prime reason for the existence of magazines as Advertising Media—eight principal factors demand the most careful consideration.

1. What is its advertising clientele?
2. Is the buyer of the product to be nationally advertised a man or woman?
3. What is the percentage of editorial matter to advertising in each issue?
4. What is the cost of its advertising per line per hundred thousand?
5. Where is its circulation distributed—big cities or small towns?
6. What is its responsiveness to keyed inquiries or mail order advertising?
7. What class of advertising does it take?
8. What degree of attention value can the average one-quarter page, one-half page, full page or color page expect?

An impartial investigation into these facts by a trained advertising agent or counselor is not a difficult matter, but it is not done as often as it should be—by men who have sufficient judgment to form an unbiased opinion.

Advertising space—in the big representative magazines—while the most economical method known to tell the consumer's story in the national way—is likewise the highest ground rent in the world and it should be weighed and analyzed carefully from the above fundamentals.

Every successful manufacturer is very careful about the selection of his salesmen who represent the house; a thorough investigation is always made of his character, his past performance, and his fitness for the territory to be assigned to him.

Inasmuch as both a salesman and a magazine must be liked and respected by their trade to be a success—it is of the utmost importance that their selection be made with the greatest care and comparison.

Perhaps the most potent argument as to the leadership of a magazine in its field—is its own clientele of advertisers—manufacturers who are accustomed to invest from $25,000 to $2,000,000 a year in National Advertising—WOMAN'S WORLD takes a great deal of pride in the quality of its advertising clientele.

We submit below a list of some of the leading National Advertisers who have been using the columns of the magazine—some every year for fifteen years.

If you desire more business in the Sixteen Middle Western States you will want WOMAN'S WORLD to help you get it.

The Power of National Advertising

Its Intelligent Application

The Twentieth Century Force

THERE has never been a time in the history of man that advertising has not been used to tell the story of goods to be bought—articles to be sold—positions to be gained or lost articles to be found.

Advertising itself is as old as the hills—there is nothing new about it.

Every epoch has used the methods which fitted its period and the people's understanding.

The problem today with a manufacturer who has good goods to sell is not whether he shall advertise—but how, when and how much.

The United States with its broad expanse—its prosperity—its population of over 105,000,000 intelligent people of every known nationality—has growing necessities and an expanding desire for luxuries which they are gratifying every day.

If a manufacturer has a product that can be used by any considerable part of our people and he is unwilling to make the effort to organize his business and promote his sales to this wonderful clientele in a national sense, he cannot expect to remain long in business—except in the most local and unprogressive way.

National Advertising

National Advertising gives to every good product the stamp of national standing—it adds an incalculable amount of good will, confidence and buyer receptivity—it provides an enduring fixed trade mark asset to the company—of more value than location, masonry or equipment—it obliterates all geographical restrictions and opens the local door to the business of the nation.

National Advertising enables the manufacturer to control the destiny of his business by his contact with the consumer—it serves as a fly-wheel to give added momentum and spirit to the whole organization in the plant—and is the spark plug to fire the salesmen with enthusiasm and confidence in the line and the aims and ambitions of the house. When properly handled it will bring everyone right up to the fighting edge so necessary to achieve leadership.

National Advertising is the torch that blazes the pathway through the fog of consumer and dealer indifference, doubt and suspicion—and brings about a harmonious conjunction of the manufacturer, jobber, retail merchant and consumer—it is the twentieth century force for twentieth century conditions.

Some conservative manufacturers who have never felt the stimulus which National Advertising gives to their business—and who look upon this tremendous good will builder and sales accelerator as an expense item to their business rather than as a necessary adjunct to their sales investment would do well to investigate the Aladdin-like achievements of the foremost houses in every line of manufacturing in America today. These manufacturers have won the leadership in their field by using National Advertising as the basis of their sales attack as well as an insurance to their business—making their trade-mark and their quality standards behind it familiar to both consumer and dealer in language that could be understood, respected and believed.

To those manufacturers who are contemplating their entrance into the field of the Nation's Business through National Advertising we commend the services of the best advertising agencies who have been very influential factors in the success of many of these business campaigns—through their experience, their service and their judgment.

Just as it is common prudence to select a good lawyer to safeguard against injudicious moves and tactical mistakes in business, so should a manufacturer consult the trained advertising specialist and sales counselor to aid him in measuring his national business opportunities and to select the proper ammunition with which to fight his publicity and sales battles.

The Cost of National Advertising

In regard to the cost of National Advertising. Given the manufacturer's belief in the value of regularly acquainting the consumer with his product through National Advertising in order to build his name—product—and trade-mark into the life of the Nation and to control the forces of the distribution of his product—the salesmen—the jobber—and the retailer, National Advertising in the magazines and newspapers is the most effective known method of distributing the product from where it is manufactured to where it can be sold with the least amount of expense and greatest amount of prestige.

In the old days before the economy of National Advertising was discovered it was the custom for the manufacturer who wished to broaden his trade and decrease his overhead to buy lists of names compiled from telephone books and directories and mail letters, broadsides or circulars to these names. This entailed a large cost for names, for paper stock, addressing, stamping and mailing, and besides offered him no adequate introduction for responsibility and dependability. It was a message from a stranger to a stranger.

Today—the manufacturer can send his business message on a four-color page in a good, woman's magazine which will be presented monthly to a list of a million different women who have all paid for the magazine in advance and who have the greatest confidence in its editorial policy and the advertisements—for $4,500 per page (if the WOMAN'S WORLD is used) at approximately one-tenth of the cost of the direct mailing of other days.

The Small-Town Buying Center

The Key to Trade Expansion

Illustrating the Importance of the County Unit

FIFTY years ago The Buying Center was the market to which the country merchant journeyed twice a year to secure his stock of merchandise.

Today The Buying Center is the place where the county and small-town consumers come every day by auto, the interurban, by team and on foot, to do their trading.

Fifty years ago there were few traveling salesmen—now there are many hundreds of thousands.

Then, a few hundred thousand dollars of business card advertising annually in the newspapers and the magazines—now, there is invested each year over $800,000,000 of the most scientific consumer publicity the world has ever seen.

This growth defies the imagination.

Get America First

Our most vital problem today is that of Distribution—our biggest Opportunity to sell our own manufactured goods to our own citizens—particularly to the farmers and small-town people.

A glance at the proportion of exported manufactured goods in relation to the total volume will convince even the most skeptical of this truth.

We are a smart and inventive people, but we will never be able to compete on manufactured goods with the low standards of living—the starvation wages—the long hours—of our Asiatic and European competition.

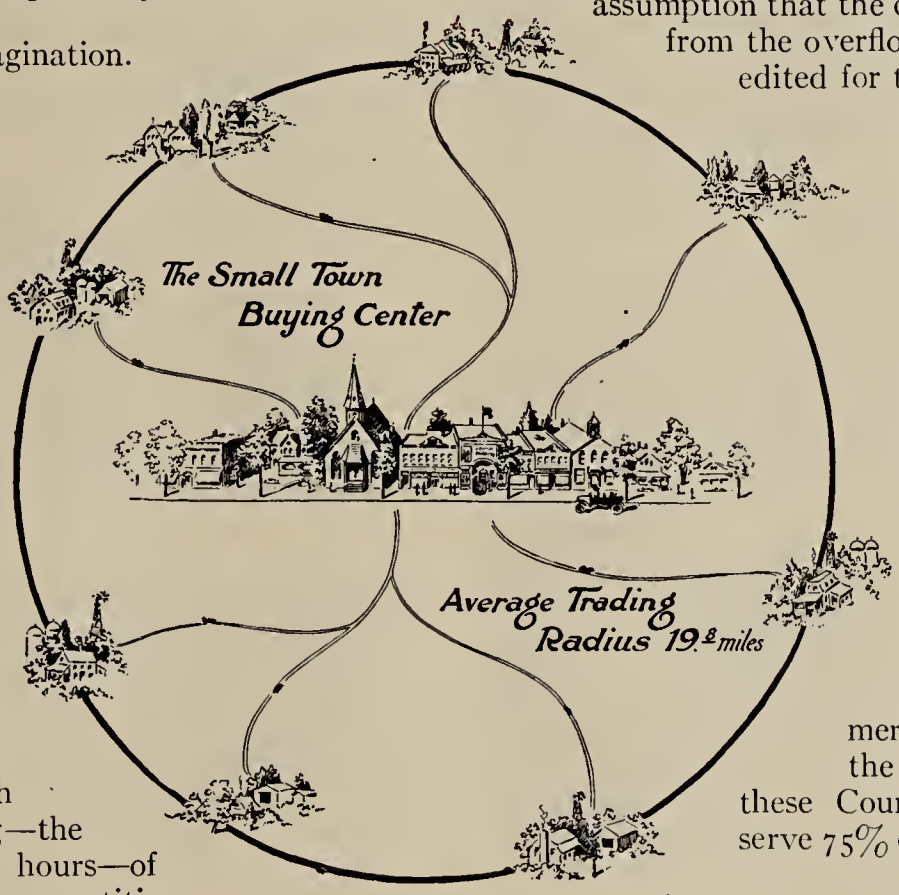
Many manufacturers have begun to realize that it is much more profitable for them to apply a definite percentage of their appropriations for sales and advertising to the development of the Small-Town and Country Market, which is an El Dorado, lying right at their very door, rather than to go rainbow-chasing in the Orient, South America or Europe.

The products of the American manufacturer are naturally pointed at the American trade, and can be sold more profitably to our own people than to people of foreign nations who do not understand our viewpoint—have a different standard of living conditions—and who have not either the resources or the inclination to adapt themselves to our terms for the payment of merchandise.

The Country and the Small-Town Market consisting of some fifty million people living in over 56,000 places, under 25,000 population, are today buying the bulk of their merchandise from the merchants in the County Buying Center Towns ranging from 500 to 25,000 population.

If the small-town people are today buying more of the private branded goods of the unknown manufacturer than the Nationally Advertised brand, it is simply because the National Advertiser has not gone after their business in an efficient manner, considering it as a separate unit with his advertising and sales efforts.

Many sales and advertising campaigns in the past have proven failures from the standpoint of profit and efficiency, because they have concentrated all of their fire on the cities of over 25,000 population, and have given no specific consideration to the larger small-town market.



Overflow Circulation

These campaigns have invariably been based on the assumption that the country readers could be sold from the overflow circulation of periodicals edited for the city people, and that the country merchants could be interested without any direct personal sales attention from the national advertiser.

We believe that the only shots that count are those that hit—overflow has never yet registered successfully in any field of human endeavor.

The purpose of this County Hand Book on National Distribution is to show the American Manufacturer that the key to the situation lies in getting his merchandise upon the shelves of the small-town dealer's store in these County Buying Centers which serve 75% of the trade in every county.

The Intimate Relationship

In the Sixteen Middle Western States each of these dealers serves both his own townspeople and the farm trade in the county from an average radius of about twenty miles. Buyer and seller know each other by their given names and are in the closest touch on social, political, fraternal, agricultural and religious matters.

Yesterday, our immense rural population came to town infrequently, slowly, with difficulty. A twenty-mile trip each way took a day. Today it takes an hour. Good roads and low-priced automobiles bring them in quickly, easily, often.

In conclusion, we urge the close examination of the maps, and the information contained in the County Hand Book. Its maps and county data will show clearly the opportunities to double your business from the same states next year. The county retail dealer records will enable you to spot the uncovered towns in every salesman's territory, and should assist you in turning many of your men into energized factors of profit—rather than creatures of whims, excuses and prejudices.

This will be a good First Step for 1923.

The Sixteen Middle Western States
The Richest Business Territory
The First Step in National Advertising

THE SIXTEEN MIDDLE WESTERN STATES:

Arkansas	Kansas	Missouri	Oklahoma
Illinois	Kentucky	Nebraska	South Dakota
Indiana	Michigan	North Dakota	West Virginia
Iowa	Minnesota	Ohio	Wisconsin

THESE states are the economic heart of the country forming an inland agricultural empire in the United States—consisting of 954,644 square miles of territory containing in 1920 41,680,610 people.

They form four and one-half times the area of the Republic of France, which has about the same population. They are the states in which the Small-Town Buying Center reaches its best development on account of the fact that it is a metropolis for the agricultural trade.

This is evidenced by the fact that 68.5% of all their population is living in towns of less than 25,000 population.

They are big enough, rich enough, important enough, accessible enough to be made the first step in any national advertising campaign for they are the bone and sinew of the country. They truly represent the spirit of America.

To those progressive national advertisers who apportion their sales and advertising per state—per sales territory—per sales opportunity—these Middle Western States have a significance of the first magnitude.

The following facts tell an interesting story of business opportunity.

Arkansas

Arkansas, "The Bear State", by the 1920 census has a population of 1,752,204, consisting of 176 incorporated towns and unincorporated county seats of over 500 population, subdivided by sizes of places as follows:

			Total Population
	Under	500 population	1,313,181
78 Buying Center Towns from	500 to	1,000 population	54,092
57 Buying Center Towns from	1,000 to	2,500 population	94,434
36 Buying Center Towns from	2,500 to	10,000 population	143,205
3 Buying Center Towns from	10,000 to	25,000 population	53,280
2 Buying Center Towns over		25,000 population	94,012

The population of the two largest cities is 94,012 or 5.4% of total population. The balance of the population is 1,658,192 or 94.6% of total population. Eliminating the city of Little Rock with its 65,142 population, Arkansas has 98% of its population in places under 25,000 population.

Arkansas is a Small-Town State

Indiana

Indiana, "The Land of the Indians", by the 1920 census has a population of 2,930,390, consisting of 327 incorporated towns and unincorporated county seats of over 500 population, subdivided by sizes of places as follows:

			Total Population
	Under	500 population	1,202,189
131 Buying Center Towns from	500 to	1,000 population	92,763
103 Buying Center Towns from	1,000 to	2,500 population	152,583

This specimen map shows the southwestern part of Illinois. From the colors used to denote the sizes of places, we see at a glance where the towns of various population classes are located, as follows:

Brown always indicates a place of from 500 to 1,000 population (or a County Seat of less than 500 population)
Red always indicates a place of from 1,000 to 2,500 population
Green always indicates a place of from 2,500 to 10,000 population
Blue always indicates a place of from 10,000 to 25,000 population
Black always indicates a place of over 25,000 population

We note the County Seats, thus: ◉; and the State Capital, thus: ✡.

The map key numbers "571," etc., enable us to refer to the town list for the names of the towns, population, Woman's World circulation, and number of stores.

On the specimen town list we find the state divided into counties, each county divided into the population classes above mentioned, and the towns arranged alphabetically in each population class—the towns in the entire list being consecutively numbered, so that ready reference can be made to or from the maps. County Seats are set in bold face type, and State Capitals are indicated thus: ★. (Town number 571 we find is Springfield and is both the County Seat of Sangamon County, and the Capital of Illinois.)

We find the state totals in the heading of the list, the county totals opposite each county, and the town figures opposite each town.

On the alphabetical town list (pages 248 to 262) we find all the towns over 500 population and County Seats of less than 500 population arranged by population class and not by counties, for the use of the manufacturer who does not route his men from the county standpoint.

The Contents of the County Hand Book

The Guide to National Leadership

A Summary of the Vital Statistics

The Divisions of Territory

This volume, the third in our series of Hand Books and Guides, approaches the problem of intensive merchandising from a standpoint which must appeal to the sound business judgment of every sales executive, advertising director and advertising agent.

That intelligent selling concentration may be accomplished, the peculiarities and individualities of each group of buyers must be considered; therefore, we have divided the United States into the four great zones or geographical divisions which correspond to the natural divisions in the industrial and general activities of our country.

These zones, and the states they comprise are:

The Sixteen Middle Western States—

Arkansas	Kansas	Missouri	Oklahoma
Illinois	Kentucky	Nebraska	South Dakota
Indiana	Michigan	North Dakota	West Virginia
Iowa	Minnesota	Ohio	Wisconsin

The Eastern States—

Connecticut	Maine	New Hampshire	Pennsylvania
Delaware	Maryland	New Jersey	Rhode Island
Dist. of Columbia	Massachusetts	New York	Vermont

The Southern States—

Alabama	Georgia	North Carolina	Texas
Florida	Louisiana	South Carolina	Virginia
	Mississippi	Tennessee

The Western States—

Arizona	Idaho	New Mexico	Washington
California	Montana	Oregon	Wyoming
Colorado	Nevada	Utah

Next, we have divided each state into counties, and each county into communities arranged according to six population classes:

Class 0—Places under 500 Population.
Class 1—Places 500 to 1,000 Population.
Class 2—Places 1,000 to 2,500 Population.
Class 3—Places 2,500 to 10,000 Population.
Class 4—Places 10,000 to 25,000 Population.
Class 5—Places over 25,000 Population.

With this arrangement the information contained in the Hand Book and shown in this Digest can be used to the greatest possible advantage in an unlimited number of ways.

Special Notes Regarding Certain New England States

Owing to a peculiarity in the method of compiling the United States Census in some of the New England States, a slight deviation from our general plan was necessary in listing the towns in the states of New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

In these states the census does not differentiate between incorporated and unincorporated places under 2,500 population; therefore, we have listed all places over 500 population whether incorporated or unincorporated.

In the state of Connecticut the census shows all incorporated places, but many places of over 500 population are unincorporated. However, it being impossible to ascertain the exact population of all such places from the census, we have listed incorporated places only.

References

The Maps. The maps were especially drawn under our own supervision. the state and county outlines being determined from the latest edition (1922) of Rand, McNally & Company's state maps.

Population. All population figures were taken from the official United States Census for 1920.

Woman's World Circulation. The circulation figures are those of the November, 1922 edition of WOMAN'S WORLD by actual count.

Stores. The number of stores showing all the dealers in the ten leading lines was ascertained by an actual count of R. G. Dun & Co.'s September, 1922 lists.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS. We desire to take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of the courtesy of Rand, McNally & Company and R. G. Dun & Co. in connection with the use of their maps and lists.
